“EDUCATION FOR NEW GENERATIONS CHARTER SCHOOL”

By signing this petition, I hereby state my support for the Education for New Generations Charter School to receive its charter. I value the initiative and agree with the school's mission and vision. I believe it would be great to have the Education for New Generations Charter School as part of the North Penn community as soon as possible. I understand that the Education for New Generations Charter School has not yet received its charter. I also understand that by signing this petition I am officially and publicly declaring my support for a charter to be granted to the Education for New Generations Charter School. Signing this petition does not bind me in any way to the Education for New Generations Charter School or to its members, and I have no obligations toward them, be in terms of enrolling my children, financial support or otherwise, but may do so if desired.

Sincerely,
The undersigned

By signing this petition, I hereby state my support for the Education for New Generations Charter School to receive its charter. I value the initiative and agree with the school's mission and vision. I believe it would be great to have the Education for New Generations Charter School as part of the North Penn community as soon as possible. I understand that the Education for New Generations Charter School has not yet received its charter. I also understand that by signing this petition I am officially and publicly declaring my support for a charter to be granted to the Education for New Generations Charter School. Signing this petition does not bind me in any way to the Education for New Generations Charter School or to its members, and I have no obligations toward them, be in terms of enrolling my children, financial support or otherwise, but may do so if desired.

Sincerely,

The undersigned

Dear Directors of the North Penn School District:

As founders and owners of North Penn Dental Arts, located at 1570 Sumneytown Pike, Lansdale (Towamencin Township), we respectfully ask you to approve the application of the Education for New Generations Charter School (eNG). We are encouraged by the philosophies and ideas presented by eNG's Founding Coalition and believe that families residing within the North Penn School District will benefit from having this proposed charter school as an option for their children.

Respectfully,

Dr. Stanley J. Heleniak

Dear North Penn School District,

I am writing in support of the Educational for New Generations (eNG) Charter School. I think it will be a welcome addition to the district's current educational offerings for students K-8th grade. eNG will offer creative programming to meet the needs of all students which should be attractive to some families within your boundaries.

Thank you for your time and consideration of this matter.

I strongly believe the concept and curriculum proposed by the founding coalition will provide a welcome alternative to some students and their families. As the Chair of the Department of Teaching and Learning at Arcadia University we would be interested in exploring establishing collaborative relationships with eNG. This school is one example of offering educational alternatives that facilitate the success of all students in the Commonwealth.

It is for these reasons that I endorse eNG and urge your approval of their application.

Sincerely,

Dr. Christina Ager

Re: eNG Charter Application

Dear North Penn School District,

I am writing because I believe that the Education for New Generations (eNG) will be successful in offering a collaborative system that will help ensure children attending the charter school receive appropriate attention in a way that complements what is already happening within the district. This charter school proposal offers an opportunity for your district to respond to the unique needs of your community in offering an alternative for families.

I strongly believe in the concept and curriculum proposed by the founding coalition. Student teachers and those students requiring field work placements at Arcadia University may also benefit from experience within the unique setting eNG proposes to offer. I believe this innovative school will offer an invaluable learning experience for all. It is for these reasons that I endorse eNG and urge your approval of their application.

Thank you for your time and consideration of this matter.

Sincerely,

To whom it may concern:

The Center for Teaching Excellence would be pleased to provide the staff of Education for New Generations Charter School with Professional Development for the National Board for Professional Teaching Standards (NBPTS) Take One! Program. The Take One! Program improves teaching quality by providing teachers with the opportunity to reflect on their own classroom instructional practices within the context of national teaching standards. Take One! allows teachers to “sample” National Board Certification—not only to improve their teaching practices within their classrooms and schools, but also to begin the path toward National Board candidacy.

Independent evaluations, as well as the schools themselves using Take One!, are reporting positive outcomes that include a strong learning culture, sharing of teaching best practices and improved student test scores.

The Center for Teaching Excellence will provide an on-site orientation to the NBPTS process and Take One! option for the faculty free of charge. In addition, it will provide your teachers who participate in the process with the following support for a fee of $400 per candidate:

- Workshops on the NBPTS process
- Technical support via phone and email
- Mentoring by current National Board Certified Teachers

The Take One! tuition is $395 per teacher which is payable to NBPTS.

We look forward to hearing from you and wish you success with your new school.

Dear Directors of the North Penn School District,

I would like to offer my support to the Education for New Generations Charter School (eNG) and respectfully request your approval of the school's charter application.

I have built my own business on a philosophy similar to that of eNG. Approaching education with a strong foundation built on physical and mental well-being is at the core of my own teaching, and I am very encouraged by the proposal of the founding coalition. I have pledged my support to the school and its programs, specifically an anti-bullying program. I urge you to do the same and offer your support by approving eNG's application and granting parents the power to choose an education that is the best fit for their children.

My best,

Dear Mrs. Siar,

I am very interest in partnering with you and the Education for New Generations Charter School.

Your school sends a very positive message to students. A message that tells each of them that they are important, and that you have time to meet their individual needs.

Montgomery County is in dire need of another school and another choice for parents. My children are grown but certainly would have attended a school such as this. We did not place them in the public school system due to the size of the North Penn High School. They were children who needed a small group setting to be successful.

After over thirty years of teaching dance, I realize the importance of a well rounded education. An education that encompasses, not only academia, but extra-curricular classes as well. I truly believe that you need to expose children to a wide variety of learning experiences.

Dance provides a creative outlet, allowing children to tap into self-expression. Not only is it a positive way of exercising their bodies but also exercising their minds. Through dance, children can bring their classroom lessons to the dance floor. They learn how dance can affect their overall academic experience. It builds confidence and promotes healthy habits that will last a lifetime.

It is my hope that I can partner with your school by providing dance classes in Jazz, Tap, Theatre Dance and Creative Movement. These lessons can be taught in 6-8 week sessions. They would work in conjunction with each subject teacher, and/or they can be taught after school, with the emphasis on performance within the school and in the community.

This venue has many possibilities for dance. I would be more than willing to explore each of them. I definitely would be interested in the opportunity to become part of this very innovative team of educators

Sincerely,

Cathy Tubolino

Dear Board Members,

We are writing to express our enthusiastic support for the educational vision articulated by Naomi Rodriguez and Kim Sier for the proposed Education for New Generations Charter School.

For nine years our company, Milestones In Music, LLC, has been providing families in the North Penn School District innovative early childhood music education programs and Autism Movement Therapy classes. During that time, we have found that families in this area seek to provide their children with a complete educational experience. The North Penn School District has been extremely successful in providing that experience to the majority of children. The vision of the Education for New Generations Charter School is to provide a unique, creative educational experience to children that may not flourish in traditional educational environments.

As teachers in the Pennsylvania public school system, Naomi and Kim have a proven record of curriculum development and pedagogy. They have also demonstrated passion for incorporating the arts into the learning experience. When the North Penn School District Board of Education approves the request of the Education for New Generations Charter School to implement its stated vision, you will add another gem to the educational assets of Montgomery County.

I am writing in support of the eNG Charter School for the North Penn School District. As a resident of the school district, I think it is extremely important to make sure we are reaching our children on an individual level and maximizing the best opportunity designed just for them. As a parent, my goal for my own children is to make sure they have the opportunity to learn in a safe, progressive and caring environment. School should have the ability teach to the "whole" child. There are many aspects learning and academics are one of the many pieces. I believe the eNG Charter School philosophy addresses the "total" learning experience.

Dear Directors of the North Penn School District,

It is my heartfelt pleasure to write this letter in support of the Education for New Generations Charter School (eNG). Having grown up in Philadelphia and living several places in the region, I chose Lansdale as the place to build my business and the North Penn School District as the place to raise my children. I recognized this community as one with strong roots and the potential for an even better future, and I believe eNG is key to achieving that potential.

As a teacher and visual arts director at The Crefeld School, a very progressive school in Philadelphia, I know that one size does not fit all students when it comes to education and choice is one of the greatest gifts we can offer our children in this changing world. Please continue to build upon the strong education system already in our district and give our children the opportunity to flourish by providing school choice and approving eNG's charter application.

Dear Directors of the North Penn School District,

I am pleased to present this letter of support for the Education for New Generations Charter School. I would like to offer my support to the founding coalition and ask that you approve their charter application. I believe this school is poised to address the individual needs of children within our community and offer exceptional care, education and direction for students who already excel and to those who may face challenges within the classroom. I believe the curriculum and philosophies presented by the founding coalition can provide a valuable option for families within the North Penn School District.

Dear North Penn School District Directors:

I am writing to respectfully ask that you approve the application of the Education for New Generations Charter School (eNG). As an established business owner within the North Penn School District, I am excited by the concept of this charter school and believe it will enhance and strengthen our community by offering an important option to help further refine our most valuable resource, our children. I know from experience that a business needs viable options to succeed and grow. I believe the same concept applies to our community, and I feel eNG is a very viable option.

I appreciate your consideration.

Respectfully,

Dr. John Stunkard, O.D.

To the North Penn School Board:

It was a great disappointment to me to hear your denial of the application for the eNG Charter School. When listening to, then later reading the reason for your decision, I was appalled to discover that you considered there to be 'lack of community support' for this school. At every meeting involving the presentation and/or vote and/or decision announcements, the Board room was packed to well over-flowing with supporters wearing eNG T-Shirts. Each of us could have, and would have stood in line to voice our support had we known this was your criteria.

Quite frankly, it was our belief that the presentation was so well executed that it really 'said it all' and needed very little verbal support. The hour was excessively late for the presentation, so we felt the message had been well-delivered and the Board was really not interested in staying until the wee hours of the morning hearing the support message over and over again. Regarding the evening of the decision, the Board Room, the hallway, the lobby, and the entry way was shoulder-to-shoulder white eNG T-Shirts. Again, there was no indication that you wanted verbal support statements from all of us. You certainly could have received a word from all of us had we known!

In short, I am going on record as supporting the eNG Charter re-application. When the opportunity next arises, I will absolutely be standing in line to verbally support this school.

Sincerely,

Judy Jones

Dear North Penn Board of Directors,

I currently live in the North Penn School District and have a daughter who will start kindergartner in the fall. I ask that you approve the application for the Education for a New Generation Charter School. My husband and I attended the public meeting held on Tuesday 02/12/2013, wore eNG t-shirts, and carried signs in support of the school. After an extensive search of the area schools, I came to the conclusion that eNG is the option that best serves my daughter's educational needs. Please honor the needs of my family, as well as many other families in the community, by approving the application for eNG.

Dear NPSD Board of Directors:

We are writing to ask you to reconsider your recent decision to not approve the Education for New Generations Charter School (eNG) for North Penn School District. Susan Lyons-Joell attended both public meetings in December of 2012 and February of 2013 on our family's behalf. We were not prepared to speak at the time, but feel obligated to speak out now. We would ask you to approve eNG for the following reasons:

- 1) ENG's model of block scheduling, cooperative learning, and interdisciplinary curriculum is unique and atypical among local elementary schools. Cross-curricular content is an emerging model in education, fulfilling a core element of charter schools. They also intend to provide on-site before and aftercare programs and full-day kindergarten, options that would have been good for our family when our daughter was entering kindergarten. Now, as a rising first grader in the 2013-2014 school year, we are anticipating enrolling her in North Penn School District and would like to have eNG as a choice for our daughter.
- 2) At the more recent public meeting, some speakers spoke against charter schools in very generalized terms, portraying all charter schools as ineffective and costly. However, we maintain that there are vast differences in outcomes and sustainability between for-profit and non-profit entities, and that lumping the problems inherent in schools that draw from high-poverty communities with troubled public schools is different from establishing true innovative educational programming in less-troubled communities. A non-profit charter school run by highly qualified teachers with an innovative curriculum, as eNG has proposed, cannot and should not be compared with the few dysfunctional charter schools that have dominated the news. There are many successful charter schools in our region that serve the needs to students and their families, and we believe eNG will be one of them.

- 3) One of the strengths of charter schools is the ability to be flexible and responsive on an individual level that is well nigh impossible in large schools and even larger districts. Some speakers pointed out that their children did just fine in North Penn School District, and I do not contest their experiences. However, the majority opinion and preferences should not discount the needs of the educational minority, who may thrive in a different, more individualized and cooperative setting such as the one eNG intends to create. The best charter schools are intended and designed to fit the needs of the educational minority, and eNG's model is one that bridges gaps in curriculum that is different from traditional elementary schools available in North Penn School District.

Our family is not against traditional public education; Susan is the daughter of an educator with 32 years of experience in the School District of Philadelphia, and Anthony completed his elementary and high school years in the Willingboro School District in New Jersey. However, we believe that of all the charter school applications, eNG deserves a second look and a second chance to win approval. We will gladly send our daughter to eNG when the school is approved to be that unique, innovative enhancement to the educational services available in North Penn School District.

Sincerely,

Susan B. Lyons-Joell

Dear School Board of Directors,

As a parent of two children in the North Penn School District I ask that you approve the application for the Education for New Generations Charter School.

I learned about eNG's charter application in January, when I was researching kindergarten registration for my preschooler. It wasn't until I visited eNG's website and read their charter application, that I finally felt confident about my son's future. I was excited about sending him to kindergarten after hearing upsetting information about the kindergarten curriculum in our local school, Montgomery Elementary. My son, Christopher, is currently in a Navy pre-school with a full day of enriched learning. I look forward to sending him to eNG for the 2013-2014 school year, so he can continue to be challenged and shaped into a well-rounded individual.

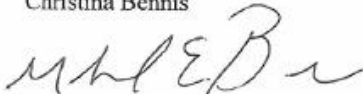

My husband and I also have a two year old who is currently in full day care. We have both of our children pre-enrolled with eNG for the regular school day as well as pre and after care. We support eNG and look forward to being involved in the school.

Education is the backbone of society, and North Penn School District is fortunate to have eNG as an applicant in that it will do all it can to generate revenue for the district not only their school. From the founders personal experience in education, they understand the importance of a proper partnership in this current legislation and are here as a solution to many of these concerns.

To Whom It May Concern,

My wife and I live in the North Penn School District. We have a four year old daughter, Emma Daley who will be starting kindergarten in the fall. We searched for what we believe would be the best educational opportunity for our daughter. We researched the area schools, specifically: Gwyn-Nor, Gwynedd Friends, and Mater Day Catholic School. During our research we came across the Education for a New Generation Charter School.

The more we read about this potential charter the more impressed we became. I reached out to one of the co-founders, Naomi Rodriguez with whom I had no prior relationship. Mrs. Rodriguez reviewed the potential curriculum of the school and the philosophies that went into developing that curriculum. After reviewing all of our options, the eNG charter application, and talking with Mrs. Rodriguez we decided that the eNG Charter School would offer our daughter the best educational opportunities possible.

My wife and I have pre-registered Emma for kindergarten in the fall of 2013, and fully intend on sending her to eNG upon approval of their charter application.

Sincerely,

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to you as a North Penn Alumni, parent in the district, public school educator, and eNG supporter.

Growing up in the North Penn school district, I took advantage of the exceptional opportunities the district offered. I was inspired to become an educator myself. Although, grateful for the invaluable experiences, there was minimal differentiation. I don't believe all of my needs were met.

As a parent working in the public school system, I see daily the exceptional work that is being done to educate the children and position the United States more competitively in the global market. The teachers and students are working diligently to perform to the best of their ability academically. The value that is placed on summarized assessments do not accurately assess the whole child. The children are judging themselves as a whole based solely on their successes academically.

As an eNG supporter, I believe in the need to develop the whole child. This is why I fully intend on sending my 2.5 year old daughter to eNg. We prepare the children to perform in testing situations but not in the real world. There is an absence of educating our child on how to express themselves appropriately, effectively, and creatively. Although differentiated instruction has been encouraged in schools, it focuses primarily on the instruction of the same material. The behavioral developments of our students are equally important to their future success outside of the school system.

I attended a school board meeting to show my support for eNG Charter. It is my understanding that the charter was denied due to the lack of people willing to speak on the behalf of eNG. I would gladly offer my support to insure eNG's charter is approved.

Thank you for your time,

Dear North Penn School Board,

My name is Anna LoPiccolo. I live at 18 West 4th Street, apt C, Lansdale, PA 19446.

I am writing to the School Board with why I believe the North Penn School District should allow ENG charter school to be here.

First of all it gives us parents a choice of where to send our children for Elementary and Middle School without the extra cost of private education. In the district, our children once in High School have the CHOICE to go to either North Penn High School or the Montco Technical school. We also have the choice of Northbridge for those whose students that while growing up had some problem. But there is NO choice to where to send our children while there are still growing up and learning not only math, science and english, BUT also morals and respect and how to be independent and work on their own.

Secondly, not all children learn the same way. I have two boys and each one learns differently. My oldest is a more creative person and learns better when he gets to see how you come up with the answer and not just by copying off the board. On his PSSA he is advanced in both math and English but last year when he took his first spelling test he got a failing grade. His teacher was a teacher who uses the board and no real interaction with the children. Let's say NO ANIMATION. And through out the year those grades did not get higher than a B in average. THIS year, he mostly gets A's in all his subjects. And his teacher is animated. He uses other tools, not just the black board, in his subjects. For example for history, the class acted out Christopher Columbus discovering America instead of reading out of the book. Last year, it was a struggle to get him to do book reports. This year, a report a week or two. ENG does that. They teach the main subjects and build in them music for example.

All I am saying not all students are the same. Some need more help than others or just learn differently. And I believe Eng, does that.

If it is all because of money. There are fundraiser and before and after school day care plus preschool that provide that extra money.

Sincerely,

Anna LoPiccolo

To the North Penn School Board,

I write to you today to express my support for Education for New Generations Charter School. As a proud North Penn Alum, I, as well as many in my extended family, have gone through the NP schools all the way from kindergarten to twelfth grade. My personal schooling experience with the district was a very positive one, and I owe who I am today to the many opportunities I had and experiences I gained from my years at Knapp, Penndale, and the high school. I have 3 family members that currently or have previously worked for the district for many years, and I myself was employed as a NP substitute teacher for a short time. That being said, as a teacher with experience in both general and special education, I feel it is time for the NP community to have another option for their children.

Learning always came easily to me. I never really struggled in school, and perhaps I was a bit ignorant to think that other students who had difficulty just weren't giving it their all. Now, as a teacher, I know better. Some students just learn differently. Not all children will fit the cookie-cutter education that North Penn, like most other public school districts, provides. Sure, there are teachers that like to mix things up a bit, and teachers have different styles and strategies to implement. In general, though, it's all the same. What about the students who need frequent "brain breaks"? Or the hands-on learners? Or the ones who need more individual attention? While traditional public school models attempt to target all of these students, many children fall through the cracks and never really get the education they need and to which they are entitled. eNG's smaller class sizes, integrated curriculums, and brain-based techniques can help all students - typically developing and those with special needs.

Today's society is in a crisis. Technology has limited person-to-person interactions, and a tough economy has made it necessary for most families to have two incomes. Family time and time spent amongst community members is becoming less frequent, and today's youth is struggling because of it. It is discouraging to me when I see my students not know how to ask someone for help, not know how to talk to each other about disagreements, not know how to socially engage with their peers. Things like sharing, conflict resolution, manners, and honesty are foreign concepts to some children. Maybe decades ago it was the family's responsibility to educate their children about these types of skills, but the fact of the matter is that today's kids just aren't getting it at home. If we, as educators, can easily teach the whole child, shouldn't we be obligated to do so? Children are our country's future, and, I don't know about you, but I think a future with people who can't problem solve, self-regulate, or communicate with others seems like a huge concern.

Fortunately for us, eNG has come up with a progressive framework to address the two issues I mentioned: teaching students who learn differently and educating the whole child. Having thoroughly read through the proposed curriculum scope and sequence provided in the eNG application, I feel this charter school is exactly what today's students need. The integration of subjects is more reflective of real life. Instructional methods and materials are research-based and emphasize brain-based learning. The Energetics curriculum targets concepts that kids direly need, yet most schools don't address these because of time constraints and attention to PSSA-specific subjects. The slightly extended school day and longer school year would allow eNG to fill in these gaps. The community involvement in teaching will establish relationships with local businesses and help support the NP area economy. Teacher collaboration (lesson study) and professional development will keep teachers up to date with the most effective and successful classroom strategies.

I graduated with my degree in Elementary and Special Education having a passion for teaching and instilling a love for learning in children. After only 1 year of teaching, though, that passion had already started to diminish because of the pressures of standardized tests, large class sizes, lack of support, and the incomplete education that I felt I was providing to my students. I have had 3 teaching positions since graduating, and they were all the same: cookie-cutter. I even considered leaving the field; that is, until I heard about eNG's mission. Learning about eNG made me excited about teaching again. So, not only would the approval of this charter be beneficial to students that need an education that's just a little different, but it will also attract many teachers who wish to be a part of this progressive movement.

Change is inevitable. Why not allow individuals like Naomi Rodriguez and Kim Siar try something new and different? With over 200 pre-enrolled students, I feel it is evident that the community wants just that. Let eNG provide a model of educating the whole child.

I thank you for your time.

Respectfully,
